We will say nothing ourselves on this point. But we offer the following editorial the inspection of tobacco, being the special which appeared in the Whig of October 29, order of the day, was taken up and read by 1874, as evidence that that paper then confessed that it had been guilty of what " many may have regarded as criminal silence." The Whig of that date said:

THE METROPOLITAN DISTRICT .- The good people of this district certainly have hard luck. With the modesty characteristic of the tribe, two carpet-baggers [Walker and Burge s] bave thrust themselves or been foisted on the district; and however distasteful they may be to the decent people of town and country, there seems no escape from the one or the other. Many, no doubt, in despair of effecting any public good by making a choice between them, will consult their own self-respect by abstaining from the polls. This is a painful alternative, and yet it is the one to which a sense of both duty and self-re-pect will constrain us. We have taken no part in the canvass-for we could not support a candidate, irregularly nominated, in whom we had no confidence; and we subdued our-selves to a course of silence partly in deference to dissenting friends, and partly from the apprehension that the appearance of discord at the centre might prove detrimental to the Conservative cause in other parts of the State. The editor of the Norfolk Day-Book is a gay and festive cuss. He is now engaged in trying to hide BELENAP's disgrace by kicking up a dust about the "thieves" who voted for the Virginia funding bill !- and voted for it against his protest. The Day-Book, it will be remembered (by those who believe that paper's averments), was the originator of "the new movement" of 1868.

The repeal of the 56th section had been a bobby of his for a long time. Mr. Daniel addres ed the Senate, and sustained the views advocated by Mr. Johnson, Mr. Hurt. Mr. Terry, and Mr. Smith, and said that the very method of inspection was ir jurious to the tobacco. All that he desired was that compulsory ir spection should be stricken from the statute-books. "The failure of Virginia to respond to her creditors will be most unfortunate. It is doubtful if any similar offer will be renewed, and under any circumstances the loss of a year in restoration of credit is much to be deplored,"

THE SCHOOL FUND .- It seems that at Richmond they are in the habit of borrowing the funds in the Treasury which belong to the public schools to pay the bondholders their interest; and now the Tressury owes the school fund nearly a million of dollars. No wonder the teachers go unpaid and the free schools languish for funds to support them, when the money is diverted from its rightful channel and paid over to the bondholders. What right has any official to take the funds set apart sacredly for school purposes and apply them to other uses? constitutional power of the representative body to impeach Belknap merely because Belknap got Grant to accept his resignation? What is an impeachment? It is a charge against a public officer of which the constitution places the cognizance exclusively in the representative body, and the trial of which is intrusted exclusively to the Senate. The House of Representatives shall have the sole power of impeachment." And : "The Senate shall have the sole power to try all impeachments." Any civil officer of the Government is liable to impeachment. The language is: "The President, Vice-President, and all civil officers of the United States shall be removed from office on impeachment for and conviction of treasor, bribery, or other high crimes and misde meanors." But: "Judgment in cases of impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from office and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust, or profit under the United States."

Impeachment is the mode of trying and punishing a public servant for misdoings in the capacity of a public servant by that body in which the mastership over all the public servants has been lodged by the Constitution. Thus, though the President is liable to impeachment equally with every other civil officer, senators and representatives are not liable to impeachment. Senators and representatives are not officers-are not public servants, as the President and all the civil functionaries are. | Senators and representatives, constituting the congress or representative body of the nation, constitute the political master, whose orders, formulated in enactments, every public servantthat is, every off er must fuff and obey.

By Mr. Marshall: A resolution as to the expediency of probibiling the passage of may shatch the constitutional road from the servant of the s s of the essence of the impeaching power. To say that any servant can in any way defeat in effect the exercise of this power of the political master over the political servan would be to reject one of the most necessary elements of representative government. To defeat the purposes and power of im peachment, no civil officer can resign, and no civil officer can accept a resignation. For the purposes of impeachment, both the resignation of Belknap and its acceptance by Grant are acts which are not acts at all.

We are earnestly in favor of all the pro posed constitutional amendments (which have been heretofore published in the Gazelte), but as it seems that there is great risk that none of them will be adopted if they are voted upon as a whole we hope the Le gislature will reconsider its action and let us vote upon them separately .- Gordonsville Gazette.
